WRITING MYSELF INTO EXISTENCE

Neopoiesis Press, LLC, United States, 2016. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 216 x 140 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .About the Author Arthur Asa Berger is the author of more than one hundred articles and more than seventy books on pop culture, media, cultural studies, humor and tourism. If you count second, third, fourth and fifth editions of books, he has published more than ninety books. His books have been translated into ten languages, with fourteen of his books translated into Chinese and five into Farsi. One of his favorite articles was titled The Evangelical Hamburger. It was a study of McDonald s hamburgers and American culture, published in 1964. He also wrote an article published in the Los Angeles Times about some sexual aspects of video games. His book Bloom s Morning psychoanalyzed kitchen appliances and other household objects and rituals and includes drawings he made for each chapter. When he gave a reading on the book in Vietnam, someone in the audience asked him if the book was a work of fiction. That is the way many serious scholars in the United States look upon all his writings. He delights in taking obscure theories generally written in impenetrable prose by European scholars and pushing them to absurd results. He has explained the way he writes as follows- I make everything up as I go along and throw in charts and diagrams to fool social scientists. Jean Baudrillard writes in his Fragments, He who speaks of himself should never say the whole truth, he should keep it secret and divulge only fragments. Berger has taken this advice to heart. Reviews Writing Myself into Existence is no ordinary biography. Professor Berger is an unclassifiable adolescent who has published 70 books to date. Whether you are...
